Same grade for all members.

Differences:

Not necessarily a difference, but more of a clarification: In-app music control was specified for the alpha release, but that was with the intent of setting up the music player screen and button layout within the UI. Actual control of music was projected for the beta release, which it is also listed for.

Special Instructions:

Enter your username and password and click signup. After exiting the app, you should be able to enter this for login. Spotify login is currently working but not necessary to view the rest of the app.
